PARENT CARER INFORMATION SESSIONS

SUPPORTING FAMILIES, SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES

Your school is part of a national programme dedicated to supporting those with neurodevelopmental needs in mainstream education called PINS.

PINS stands for Partnership for Inclusion of Neurodiversity in Schools and is a programme delivered by the Department for Education and NHS England.

As part of this work, members from the PINS team will be hosting parent carer information sessions to support meaningful engagement with school communities.

These sessions will provide a safe, welcoming space for families to share their experiences of navigating neurodevelopmental differences in education, and to explore practical ways of working effectively with schools.

Colleagues from Family Action will facilitate these sessions, joined by professionals from the health and care system, ensuring families and the wider school community can connect with professionals working across neurodevelopmental services and SEND. Their expertise will provide valuable guidance, signposting, and tailored advice.

Insights from families shared in these sessions will directly shape the development of training and resources for schools across Norfolk, helping them to better understand and meet the needs of children and young people.

YOU ARE INVITED!

Please find below the details of the information session being held at your school. Please come and share your experiences and offer valuable feedback so that together, we can create meaningful change for children, families, and the school community.
